

As an aspiring conductor and composer, CJ Garcia envelopes his life in music being both a composition major at the University of Denver and Drum Major of the Blue Knights Drum and Bugle Corps. Based in Denver, CJ helps to create individualized SmartMusic assignments for both the Blue Knights and various high school band programs around the nation through his technical expertise in creating professional, published looking scores in Finale and subsequently, SmartMusic assignments. Through musical leadership and creative problem solving, CJ is on his way to finding his niche in the world of music.
