

There's No Prize Greater Than Personal Happiness: What's Your Formula?

We all have wish lists for such money, fame and maybe even stardom. However let's be realistic, none of us are perfect in all we do. So let's put our priorities in life in order by recording memories of our family through stories, photos, video clips, interviews, as well as our extended family and what they achieved so all of us know who we really are and which characteristics of our ancestors we have who have contributed over time to who we are and what our talents, aspirations and personal ambitions represent. But none is greater than uniting our families together for both time and eternity because history tends to repeat itself. Time itself tends to evaporate if you don't use it wisely. Take charge of your life because it is possible to do family history in just five minute increments.
