Workshop Presentation Preface:

The Challenge to the Priesthood:

Bishop Richard C Edgely – April 2009 General Conference – Video or local. When the priesthood quorums and relief society embrace the approach Bishop Edgely articulated, networking success is imminent.

A Solution to Bishop Edgely's Priesthood Challenge

Job hunting is extremely difficult and it's up to the individual to make it happen.

But with a job coach, employment success is significantly enhanced and when combined together with the coordinated efforts of the Ward Council,

Know Your Prime Job Resources for Colorado

National Resources

1. www.ldsjobs.org. Do not under estimate the power of ldsjob.org because it will provide you with information and tools to help you reach your career goals as well as jobs! Here's a tutorial to develop a Profile at www.kuzmich.com/employment/Blog/Profile/TableProfileL.pdf
2. www.indeed.com It is the world's largest single source of jobs as an employment-related search engine. To become familiar with how to maximize indeed, there's a 3 minute video at: www.kuzmich.com/employment/indeed/Indeed.pdf
3. www.beyond.com. Whether you're looking to advance your career, connect with a professional community, or showcase your accomplishments, you've come to the right place because it is a Go-to site for job networking. A MUST for all serious job seekers.

Local Resources

4. Denver Regional Employment Center. An amazing resource for one-on-one job seeking assistance along with many free workshops to guide individuals in finding jobs. URL is <https://www.ldsjobs.org/ers/ct/center/68481?lang=eng> . See their flyer at web or local for special training and employment opportunities with both the LDS Employment Resource Services and Desert Industries.
5. Craig's List is perhaps the ideal source for blue-collar jobs: <https://denver.craigslist.org/jjj/> they have separate web sites for the mountains, Front Range and Plains. Here are the different web sites:
boulder
colorado springs
denver

6. American Job Center - Jefferson County, Colorado jeffco.us/american-job-center/ Golden, CO 80401 ... The American Job Center (AJC) promotes economic vitality by identifying, developing and matching a talented workforce to business. Last year they taught free 700 employment workshops plus additional monthly workshops for the Jefferson County Library system at different library facilities.

7. CareerOneStop as part of the Colorado Workforce has offices in Denver, Golden, Frisco, Idaho Springs, Frisco, Black Hawk and throughout the greater Denver metro-area and the entire state of Colorado. All Colorado offices are listed at <http://www.careeronestop.org/ReEmployment/MoreBenefitsandAssistance/stateresource/coloradostateresources.aspx> with location addresses, phone #'s and e-mail addresses. Their offices have computers, fax machines, telephones, printers, telephones, and staff to help job seekers to get organized. All offices are available to the public and free as sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labor. Testimonies of Anaheim, California job seekers: click on each link one, two, three and four.
8. State of Colorado Employment Development Department. URL is <https://www.colorado.gov/cdle>. The Colorado Department of Labor & Employment connects job seekers with great jobs, provides an up-to-date and accurate picture of the economy to help decision making, assists workers who have been injured on the job, ensures fair labor practices, helps those who have lost their jobs by providing temporary wage replacement through unemployment benefits, and protects the workplace - and Colorado communities - with a variety of consumer protection and safety programs.
9. Colorado Public Libraries: Here's a quick synopsis of what the major public libraries offer. Almost all of them offer one-on-one consultation either as "Ask a Librarian," "Book a Librarian" or "Hire a Librarian" and a librarian will help the patron how to use the library's databases more effectively to find employment. The American Job Center in coordination with the Jeffco libraries offers monthly employment workshops a different locations in their system. You can locate all the public libraries in the state of Colorado at: <http://www.publiclibraries.com/colorado.htm>

11. www.referenceusa.com/ Need a public library card to access their web site for free. To identify 20+ million plus businesses nation-wide Here's a 3 minute video tutorial of how to maximize this service: www.kuzmich.com/employment/referenceusa/referenceusa.pdf From a zip code, it is easy to identify every business in that location plus its address, phone number and the manager's name to set up a relationship between the bishop and that business for future jobs before ever going public with job vacancies.

Be sure all candidates and job coaches have a public library card with them plus a notebook computer. In Jefferson County, In Denver, I go to jefferson.lib.co.us/, sign in and proceed on-line. Here's a sample for Golden with 3,395 businesses listed in alphabetical order below. Note the managers are listed which can be invaluable when attempting to contact each business that is appropriate for your job seekers.

Job Search Site List

The internet provides a vast resource of information relating to job searching. In order to make effective use of these resources an organized and disciplined approach to your job search is appropriate. While job leads are necessary, the fact remains that networking and personal contacts are the most effective path to a job interview and ultimately an offer. Using the internet to identify available job openings and then using networking to get an inside track can provide a powerful search strategy.

The following compilation of sites presents an extensive set of site addresses broken into useful career categories.

COMPANIES	CONSTRUCTION	ENERGY
ENGINEERING	FELONS	FINANCE – BANKING
GENERAL	GOVERNMENT JOBS	HEALTHCARE
HOSPITALITY	IT- TECHNOLOGY	JOURNALISM – BROADCASTING
	REGIONS – LOCATIONS

Top 10 Best Job Sites

Looking for a good position is never easy, especially in tough employment markets. But even so, there are hundreds of thousands of jobs available at any given time, if one knows where to look. Many of them are posted on job boards.

A job board's primary function is to connect companies with potential employees. And as recent studies show, companies find nearly 25% of their external new hires through these sites. Surveys have also found that up to 32% of job seekers found their jobs by either responding to an ad or posting a resume on a job board.

Getting Organized To More Fully Helping Job Seekers!

Here are some questions that will help provide insight about how to more accurately handle the challenge of finding/customizing appropriate jobs for job seekers.

1. List of job skills his unemployed/underemployed members have beyond general manual laborer, such as a warehouse cashier, cleaning, security, short-order cook, fast-food restaurant, driver, senior citizen care, maintenance, dog walker, and others.
2. List of job titles that members are looking for employment.
3. Name of industries in your ward's area that have been employing minority workers.
4. Zip codes of every attending member so I can search for jobs more accurately need where they live since transportation will be a factor.
5. Try to have one church leader or someone computer knowledgeable with a notebook computer assigned to a specific needy person. The leader is to bring to the workshop and be available to act as a job coach. For definition purposes, a job coach is one checks up on their assigned needy member to insure that they apply for jobs given to them, helps coordinate their appointments and other essential timely matters. For a quick overview of how a job coach can make a difference to insure success, go local or www.kuzmich.com/employment/employment_committee/links/CoaSht.pdf

6. Important that there some organized English language classes regularly available for job seekers on a regular basis: Relief Society, missionaries, etc.

Stand Out

With a Resume That Demands Attention

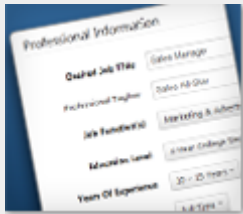

30 seconds. That's all the time you have to impress a recruiter with your skills and experience. And that's only if your resume makes it to a real person. With many job postings receiving hundreds (or thousands!) of applications, employers often use screening software to filter resumes based on keywords and phrases that match the job requirements. Make sure your resume makes the cut—and commands attention—with these tips:

Include Keywords – Scan job postings for common words within responsibilities, skills and required experience. Use these powerful words within your resume, and you'll be more likely to bypass applicant screening software—and catch a recruiter's attention.

Customize for the Job – Read the job posting thoroughly and note required skills and experience. Applying for a project management role requiring communication skills? Highlight your cross-department coordination and monthly presentations. To quickly custom-fit your resume to the job, keep a master list of your bullets and previous jobs that you can easily swap in to highlight your more relevant experience.

Drop the Objective – Replace the generic objective with a career summary that showcases the accomplishments that set you apart. New to the workforce? Create an objective that brands you from the start—highlight your specific skills and unique value.

Get Fresh Eyes to Proofread – Even professional writers make mistakes. Ask at least one other person to read through your resume for typos, inconsistencies, and confusing jargon.

Here's Another Approach for Creating Dynamic Resumes: More Thorough!

If you desire to build a resume quickly without using an on-line service, you can use one of my 10 dynamic resume templates contained on the workshop's training CD that all job coaches will receive, Read on!

Attached are some ten resume templates that members can cut and paste with more interactive resume. The resume can be developed faster if he has two or three job descriptions that meet his expectations. There we can wield more cutting-edge ingredients into his resume. Important note: every job submission needs a customized resume tailored that particular job description. There is no such thing as one resume for all job submissions. But since many of your needy members have no resume, this e-mail is a great starting place to generate a resume based on one of the many resume templates attached.

My employment blog offers unique 24/7 self-paced instruction that will be welcomed at goldenemployment.blogspot.com and the many, many instructional links available. To maximize how to use the special features contained on this blog, go to www.kuzmich.com/employment/Blogging%20Tips.html

To get him both better organized and going, study the following link for resume writing at: www.kuzmich.com/employment/Blog/resume/TableResumeZ.pdf or click here Resume Writing. Resume instructions are one screen or less and presented in a sequential manner that are concise. This URL is a tutorial that outlines how to begin this process. Be sure to check out the action words on screen four or five that need to be inserted throughout your resume.

If you need more understanding of the principles of a dynamic resume, go to Resume Writing with a definitive 32 slide PowerPoint Presentation at: www.kuzmich.com/employment/Handy CDs/Resume Module final.html because the infrastructure of a dynamic resume are explained in-depth with clear examples, step-by-step.

And to help your job seeking members jump-start to actively develop a dynamic resume (which is one you read down the page rather than across as found in paragraphs, line to line), attached is a tutorial resume template on the CD entitled Natalie3 - Table Format (36).doc that you or he can cut and paste his vital information into this template for an instant professional upgrade in appearance! For examples of dynamic resumes, go to www.kuzmich.com/Church/resumepage.html for seven examples. Attached are even better dynamic resume examples to peruse and use. I really like the attached Douglas Graves resume as a professional model for white collar job seekers.

Yes, it will take time to get organized for a good job search plan. The following URLs will also be an important beginning. The first is literally nicknamed by me as "Quick Start" and I can literally find jobs for your husband in just minutes once I have his job titles and resumes for me to focus on. Register all job seekers on www.ldsjobs.org

Will also attempt to register the applicants on www.ldsjobs.com with their basic Profile so if and when they do obtain a job, the Denver Employment Center can receive credit for obtaining jobs through their enrollment with www.ldsjobs.org.

Important: here's a no-nonsense on-line tutorial for creating and developing a Profile at ldsjobs.org can be found at: www.kuzmich.com/employment/Blog/Profile/TableProfileL.pdf

Here's a quote from a current bishop of how important this web site is. "I lean heavily on the Employment Center when people come to me for help. In some cases, I have held off providing any assistance until they have a 100% profile. I've also told job seekers that even if they don't want to use the center, filling out a profile is an act of obedience to supplement their prayers for divine help."

"I've been in my current job 10 years and am convinced I landed it because of the help I got from the center."

Career Advisement

For particularly valuable resources about careers: go to occupations.careers.org/ and there you begin a more thorough career listing variations on specific career types for more resources and job titles and many functional URL's to benefit the public. There are 24 unique career ladders to go through via each box which multiples exponentially!

Then occupations.careers.org/topic/458-jobs-by-occupation-field takes one more specifically into each career much like the American Job Bank does. Look at <http://www.ajb.dni.us> for career options as another example.
