

Optical Illusion: The Importance of Your Ethnicity As To Who You Are!

As an example of how important ones ancestral ethnicity can be, some of my living ancestors have been displaced in Ukraine and have relocated to Poland, Canada, USA and elsewhere.

Intently on pursuing family history work can make one dull and boring? Here's a good remedy with good humor to share with you and your friends toward following Jesus Christ especially with references to our Doctrine & Covenants in sections 137 and 138! Normally, I don't pay much attention to auto bumper stickers. But this one below really got the attention of both of my wife and me while visiting my brother-in-law in Cedar City, Utah in November. When I asked my brother-in-law where he obtained this auto bumper, he said: "My wife created it." The oddity is whenever he stops at a traffic light, cars generally move extremely close to his car just to read it and then gently move back to a safer distance!

Breakdown of My Ancestral Ethnicity

Here is a map of my ancestral ethnicity. In fact, my Eastern European ancestors (Poland, Ukraine, Slovakia, Slovenia and Czech Republic who have immigrated aboard, have all sacrificed much just to survive life. And I am a very lucky person to be born in the USA and now a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Here is a deeper breakdown of my ethnicity
